~~Community Development and Growth Management Concentration The authority to enact and implement policies is increasingly influence by the ability of various levels of governments to cooperate with one another and with non-governmental entities. Growth management exemplifies this concept with its emphasis on cross-jurisdictional collaboration, balancing economic development, social and cultural needs, and protection of ecologically sensitive areas. The built environment requires the search for innovative approaches, leadership and understanding of power structures, social networks and economic decision making. The concentration will focus on equipping the analyst to develop an understanding of multi-jurisdictional/organizational decision making to articulate the needs of multiple constituencies conflict resolution skills methods of social network analysis~~
