Title Name Change - School of Continuing Education & Academic Outreach to Global Campus

Include justification and any necessary catalog text changes in the box below.

The core mission of the School of Continuing Education & Academic Outreach, which originally focused on adult education and conference-hosting, has changed over the past decade to focus more on providing support for the University of Arkansas's online academic courses and programs, support to the University for learning technologies across delivery modes, and open-enrollment and customized professional and workforce development programming to business and industry. Further, the campus community and the community at large are much more familiar with the entity's shorthand name, "Global Campus," than the name "School of Continuing Education & Academic Outreach." Thus, changing the entity's name to "Global Campus" will more closely align the name with the entity's current operations and public image.
