On-line/Web-based Information

Reason for offering Web-based Program

Establishing an online version of the minor will serve several purposes. First, doing so will give students greater flexibility by allowing them another avenue by which to complete the minor, especially those students who are already pursuing an online major. Second, offering the minor online will allow students who are located outside of Fayetteville to complete the minor. A third reason has to do with departments' capacities to offer enough classes for the students in the minor. Demand for the minor's in-classes courses is high, with many students unable to register for the minor's classes until their senior year. Establishing an online minor will alleviate some of this demand by channeling the online minors to the existing online classes. Moreover, offering the minor online will also help to fill the courses that are already offered online.
