Undergraduate Program Changes:

TABLE ONE

Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences

Department of Agricultural Education, Communications, and Technology

ACOM-M – Minor in Agricultural Communications - Attachments 1A and 1A-1

Change name of minor program from Agricultural Communications minor to Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences Communications minor.

Department of Agriculture Economics and Agribusiness

AGBSBS – BSA, Agricultural Business - Attachment 1B

The specific requirement that AGEC 4613: Domestic and International Agricultural Policy be taken as part of the departmental core is being removed. Students will instead be allowed to choose two of four agricultural policy-intensive courses as part of the departmental core requirements. AGEC 3413, Environmental Economics is being removed as a specific requirement under the specialization and will hereafter be one of the four agricultural-policy intensive options in the core. Total hours required for the degree remain unchanged.

School of Human and Environmental Sciences

HDFSBS – BSHES, Human Development and Family Sciences, Birth to Kindergarten Concentration - Attachment 1C

The Birth through Kindergarten concentration in the major of Human Development & Family Sciences will be revised to prepare students for application for the Integrated Birth through Kindergarten/Special Education teacher license in the state of Arkansas. These revisions will be implemented incrementally over several years. The first set of revisions are presented for 2014-2015.

The following changes in course requirements will be made: 1. New course, HESC 1413 Foundations for Teaching Young Children, will be created. 2. A new lab course, HESC 2401L Infant & Toddler Development Lab will be created as a co-requisite to HESC 2403 Infant & Toddler Development. 3. HESC 3402/3401L Child Guidance will have a new number, HESC 2473/2471L. Changing the course from 2-credit hours to 3-credit hours better reflects the competencies required from the State of Arkansas for teacher licensure. Moving this course to the 2000-level better reflects the sequencing of the concentration and allows for the direct substitution of this course from the junior colleges. 4. HESC 1411L Observation of Children will be removed from the requirements. Content from this course will be embedded in the proposed HESC 1413 Foundations of Teaching Young Children. 5. HESC 4423 Adult Development will be removed from the requirements. 6. HESC 4753 Family Financial Management will be removed from the requirements.

Graduate Program Changes:

Arts and Sciences Dean

CLCSPH – PhD, Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies - Attachment 6A

There will be one minor edit to the catalog copy which clarifies that the oral examination will cover the student's dissertation proposal, which will be done after completion of the written examination. The following changes are primarily internal to the department's doctoral exam structure and are not reflected in the catalog copy, but are as follows:

1. The current 3-hour, closed book World Literature essay exam would be replaced by a 72-hour, open-book take-home essay exam.
2. The World Literature Identification exam would be eliminated.
3. The current 2 3-hour, open-book Specialty essay exams would be replaced by a single 72-hour take-home exam. (The critical approaches essay would be eliminated because critical approaches would be integrated into the take-home exams, as they are now in English.) This would mean that students write two take-home exams, one within their main specialty, and one outside their main specialty (the World Literature essay.).
4. An oral exam, to cover the dissertation prospectus/proposal and related material, would be added as the final component of the comprehensive exams, helping to move students smoothly into the writing of the dissertation.

Department of Crop, Soil and Environmental Sciences

CSESMS – MS, Crop, Soil and Environmental Science - Attachment 6B

The CSES graduate program is eliminating the non-thesis option for the M.S. Degree. The non-thesis option has not been used for several years. Because our department is an applied science program, the faculty believe that thesis research is a fundamental part of a graduate degree and would prefer to only admit students interested in research activity. This change will not affect any other graduate or other academic program. The proposed change would only eliminate the non-thesis option for M.S. students.

Department of Health, Human Performance and Recreation

CHLPMS – MS, Community Health Promotion - Attachment 6C

Proposal requests to add another option besides the required project or thesis as part of the graduation requirement. The new option would be to complete 15 elective graduate credit hours and successfully passing the master's comprehensive examination.

Department of Health, Human Performance and Recreation

ATTRMA – M.AT., Athletic Training - Attachment 6D

Proposal requests to change the KINS Alpha Codes to EXSC - this process has already been generated through CIM system. Adding EXSC 5643 Psychology of Sport Injury and Rehabilitation to the required courses for the Master of Athletic Training. In addition; the GRE score in the text has been updated to reflect the new scoring system.

KINSPH – PhD, Kinesiology - Attachment 6E

Proposal requests to change KINS alpha code on courses only to EXSC; this is currently in progress through the CIM system. Deleting six credits of required courses (KINS 6323 Biomechanics II and KINS 6343 Physiology of Exercise II); and increasing the field of study electives from 18-24 credit hours. Note - this action does not change total hours required for the degree program and only increases the number of electives by 6 hours. In addition in the text; corrected the GRE score to the new scoring system.

Department of Mathematical Sciences

SMTHMA – MA, Secondary Mathematics - Attachments 6F and 6F-1

Proposal requests to offer the program online as well as face-to-face. No changes in curriculum are requested.

Department of Music

The proposal request to change the current name of the program from "Graduate Certificate in Advanced Instrumental Performance" to "Graduate Certificate in Advanced Performance." As a result, we have a change to the initial paragraph in the catalog copy which introduces the program, and a change to the prerequisites to the Graduate Certificate. The word "instrumental" is being removed in places referencing the grad certificate's program name.
