Learning Outcomes

Learning Outcomes

Based on standards set by the Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communications, students who complete this microcertificate will be able to:

Think critically, creatively and independently in the process of writing text and creating multimedia content for target audiences.

Gain proficiency in digital skills to convey key messages effectively.

Apply current tools and technologies to generate text and visuals for use in journalism, public relations and advertising.

Understand concepts and apply theories in the use and presentation of images and information.

Understand the role of voice and movement for delivering on-camera and/or on-microphone content.

Description and Justification for this request

Description of request	Justification for request
The Strategic Media Skills MicroCertificate would provide 9 hours of content based on best practices in crafting strategic communication plans that resonate with target audiences and align with organizational or personal goals. It is designed to provide undergraduate students with a foundation for strategic media skills in three areas: 1) an applied overview of public relations and advertising	The School of Journalism and Strategic Media (SJSM) wants to add a microcertificate option for undergraduates who are specifically interested in strategic skills for targeted media content in public relations and journalism. This microcertificate would allow students to improve

Reviewer Comments

Lisa Kulczak (lkulcza) (12/14/23 11:37 am): Reformatted program requirements to include a course list; updated courses not found due to common course numbering conversion. College is encouraged to review for accuracy.

Doug Miles (dmiles) (01/03/24 2:50 pm): Changed CIP code to "09.0900 - Public Relations, Advertising, and Applied Communication" after consultation with Dave Bostwick and Bret Schulte.
